THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF EXTERNAL AFFAIRS (SHRI EDUARDO FALEIRO): (a) to (c) The U. N. paid an allowance ranging from US $ 62/ to US $ 80/ per day per person, depending upon location in Namibia and whether housing or food was provided, directly to the Indian Police Contingent deputed to Namibia. These amounts were paid over and above their pay and allowances and other admissible benefits that they continued to receive in India from the Government. In addition, the Government was reimbursed the cost of providing monitors at a standard rate of US $ 950/ plus a supplement of US $ 280/ per month per person based on 25% of the authorised strength of the contingent. This was on account of pay and allowances, mobilisation charges and compensation for dislocation of Police personnel. Also, US $ 70/ per person per month was reimbursed as usage factor for personnel clothing, gear and equipment including personal weapons and ammunition. These amounts have been transferred to the concerned Police Units.
